NEWS IN THE VICINAGE.

Fountain Land, a wealthy citizen of Jessamine, is dead.

M. W. Finch has been appointed postmaster at Hazel Patch.

Clay Clement will be in Danville on the 1st and appear in his new play, "A Southern Gentleman."

Will Tucker, a Somerset Negro, got 60 days of hard labor for stealing a pocket handkerchief.

The Citizens and Boyle National Banks of Danville each declared 4 per cent. dividends and the Farmers' National 40 per cent. from earnings and surplus.

Revenue receipts in Collector Yerker's office in December reached $228,533.98. Of this $221,056.47 was on spirits and $2,000.00 on documentary stamps.

The mother of President Frost, of Berea College, was found dead in her bed. Heart trouble the cause. Her age was 73, and she has a number of distinguished sons.

Rockcastle county has a freak in the form of a child with neither arms nor legs. A Mrs. Franklin gave birth to the child six weeks ago and the little fellow is in good health.

Jas. A. McAfee, of Louisville, was found drowned in Lake Mirror, Florida. He was a retired druggist and manufacturer of Colgan's tonic. He was a native of Mercer county.

The merchants of Columbia are a grateful set. It takes two columns of the News for them to thank their patrons for their patronage last year.

J. Hines, of Somerset, collector for a Knoxville (Tenn.) nursery, says he was shot at a number of times in Mercer county, by men, who presumably wanted to rob him of the several hundred dollars that he had collected.

Berea College will receive $200,000 in a few days. Several months ago Dr. D. J. Pearson, of Chicago, agreed to give the college $50,000 if $150,000 could be raised otherwise by December 31. It was announced Tuesday that $150,000 had been raised.

The internal revenue collections on whisky at Lawrenceburg for 1898 were $1,367,663.62, against $1,287,805.20 for the previous year. For the month of December the collections were $155,788.96, while that of the preceding month were $154,446.38, and for the same month last year were $163,217.78.

Mr. W. H. Jackson died at his home near London, of kidney trouble, after a long illness, in his 89th year. He was a pioneer in Laurel county, having the first hotel of any consequence, then branching out into merchant, banker and farmer. He leaves a wife, five daughters and two sons, R. M. Jackson, cashier being one of them.

Deputy Sheriff Cole, of Knox, went to A. W. Hopper's store in Barberville and engaged in a quarrel with him. Hopper ordered him to leave the house when Cole undertook to search Wilson, a clerk, saying he had a revolver on his person. Town Marshal Roach was called, when Cole shot him, the ball going in the abdomen and inflicting a probably mortal wound.

The platform woman never has been a credit to, but ever a blot upon American womanhood. I make this emphatic statement from a personal knowledge of the homes which these women leave behind when they go to their meetings, writes Edward Holt in the Ladies' Home Journal. "I have seen the rooms of their homes left in wild disorder; I have seen their servants sitting in idleness with work on every hand to do; I have seen the children neglected and left to their own devices; I have heard husbands speak in derision of the motives of their wives. No woman in a happy American home can afford to listen to these parasites of her sex."

"My friend," said the clerical looking passenger to the traveling man in the next seat, "do you ever drink?"

"Is that an invitation or only a question?" asked the twitly drummer.

"Then," observed the other, "I never drink, sir, never."

WORKING NIGHT AND DAY

The bushiest and brightest little thing that ever was made is Mr. King's New Life Pill. Every pill is a sugar-coated globule of health, that changes weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fog into mental power. They're wonderful to building up the health. Only 25¢ per box. Sold by Peony, the Druggist.

RED HOT FROM THE OVEN

Was the bell that Bill G. H. Steadman, of New York, rang, in the Civil War. It caused horrible fears that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Buckle's Anti-Salts cured him. Cures Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Boils, Ulcers, Coughs, Skin Diseases. Best Medicine on earth. 25cts. a box. Guaranteed, sold by Peony, the Druggist.

MCKINNEY.

Mrs. Arthur Walls, who a few days ago was given up to die with pneumonia, is now able to sit up.

Rev. T. H. Coleman will preach at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday mornings, and again Sunday night.

Rev. M. P. Morgan preached in the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning.

A terrific rain and wind storm struck this place Wednesday evening, completely knocking out the prayer meeting service at the Baptist church. It was so dark one could scarcely feel a black hat on his head without the aid of a candle.

The Masons have elected and appointed the following officers for 1899: E. J. Tanner, W. M., E. M. Estes, S. W., M. F. Ryan, J. W., M. Coffey, secretary, W. A. Coffey, Tr., W. J. Montgomery, F., W. H. Gooch, S. D. and K. L. Tanner, J. D. All were installed on the evening of their election.

"Bob" Moore is seriously ill with rheumatism. Grip has had your correspondent in its clutches for the last several days, but happily it is loosening its hold. Roy and Lucien Gooch have returned from a several days visit to friends in and about Waynesburg. Miss Frona Montgomery has been with friends at Kingsville.

The Macabees' supper given here last week was a social success and the 75 people who partook of it failed to consume the supply and all had reason to enjoy it. After supper the crowd was addressed by M. F. Elkin, of Stanford, and Dr. Green Moore of this place. Both made good speeches and the people enjoyed them. Mrs. Geo. E. Alford and Miss Florence Tanner tendered some instrumental music on organ and guitar and Miss Lila Owens, of Junction City, and Master (?) "Nort" Tanner did the "pleasantries" act for the amusement of the crowd. All enjoyed it.

Dr. W. L. Lowder has moved into the property recently vacated by W. K. Sugars, who has gone to the farm from which Isabell White just moved to the one occupied by Tom Collier, who a few days ago moved to one left by some other fellow. Miss Bell Gooch with her younger brothers and sisters has moved from town back to their farm. Fred Bishop has moved to his farm in the Hubble neighborhood. Granville Rogers has moved to the place vacated by Bishop. Moses Coffey has bought the property on Main street, adjoining Ware's hotel, of O. J. Crow, for $250 and will take possession next week. Mr. Coffey will likely rent his present home on the Middlebury pike to J. T. McKinney. F. R. Hughes is building a dwelling on Middlebury street.

The people of this section believing they have in the person of W. A. Coffey, J. P., an officer that will conscientiously execute the law as he understands it, regardless of unjust influences, were very much alarmed by the announcement of his proposed resignation. To assure him of their approval of his official course, the following petition signed as below, was presented him for his earnest consideration:

MCKINNEY, Dec. 26th 1898.
To W. A. Coffey, J. P., Dist. No. 3.
Honored Sir:

We the undersigned citizens of Lincoln county, having heard of your intended resignation of office on Jan. 1, 1899, would respectfully ask you to reconsider your resolution and continue to serve the Commonwealth in your official capacity as faithfully to the end of your term as you have since entered upon its duties. We heartily endorse your course as an officer of the law and feel that your resignation at this time would prove to be a serious event in the history of the county, therefore we pledge you our hearty co-operation in the suppression of crime and the upholding of the laws of our country.

W. R. Gooch, S. A. Montgomery, Wal Singleton, col., W. K. Sugars, J. S. Murphy, Jr., E. J. Tanner, J. L. Tauner, S. Keeney, W. D. Gooch, Jas. Gooch, E. Barnett, W. J. Duncan, Sam Douglas, Jack Douglas, J. L. Beck, D. S. Rife, F. M. Ware, Moses Coffey, Green Moore, M. D., W. H. Kennedy, J. Hammelstein, Joe Levinson, A. S. Levinson, C. T. Owens, Rice Reynolds, G. A. Hughes, M. F. Ryan, S. B. Walls, D. R. Slader, J. P. Hubble, J. B. Robards, Ed M. Estes, E. D. Kennedy, K. L. Tanner, A. M. Darison, J. M. Snow, M. D. Tomba, G. C. Johnstone, Wadu Keomdy, O. Haugh, C. F. Epperson, G. S. McKinney, D. C. Allen, H. Baslin, W. Wheat, T. J. Austin, E. Baslin, G. D. McCarty, McWheat, A. Richards, J. L. Bradshaw, Jno. McKinney, J. J. McKinney, C. F. Estes, George Cloyd, col., W. M. Austin, A. P. Hunt, F. M. Cook, J. B. Williams, A. B. Austin, W. Cloyd, col., C. S. Montgomery, J. Heemes col., S. M. Estes, F. Brown, col., Wm. Cloyd, A. L. Green, E. Reynolds, M. J. Baslin, H. F. Simms, A. Austin, L. R. Trivett, E. D. Lewis, R. E. Lucas, G. Austin, C. Mobley, H. B. Floyd, H. H.

Hill, W. C. Wade, W. E. Linthicum, W. B. Hill, G. M. McKinney, S. N. Davison, W. M. Dodderar, Robt. Robinson, G. H. Smith, C. W. Montgomery.

This petition was left in one of the stores here and at Mt. Salem for a few days, and we are informed but two men whose attention was called to it, refused to sign it. Still another list of names has been secured in the Green river neighborhood which has not been furnished us in time for publication. After considering the petition and many strong personal appeals of some of the best citizens in the country, SQUIRE COFFEY has asked us to say to the petitioners that he will respect their wishes, and to the citizens of Lincoln county that he will continue to serve them to the best of his ability, expecting their co-operation in all things that tend to our common good.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

Charles Jones and Miss Ethel Jackson, of London, eloped to Jejille and were married.

Alfred Jones, of Riverside, Tenn., eloped with and married his stepdaughter, who is 50 years younger than himself.

Fifteen minutes after Memierick Ellinger, of Waterbury, Conn., was divorced from his wife he took another chance in the matrimonial lottery with Marie Ez.

Miss Carrie Phou, who was to have been married the following day, drowned herself at Raleigh, N. C. She quarreled with her fiancé at a party the night before.

George Strum, of the 12th New York, who was killed in a railroad wreck in New Concord, O., was to have been married Jan. 20 to Miss Minnie Schuler of Lexington.

A Cleveland judge has decided that 11 o'clock is the proper quitting hour for a young man keeping company. Parents here wish that the decision could hold good here.

Rev. Joseph Lennon, of the M. E. Church, South, pastor of the Epworth Mission in Richmond, Va., eloped to Weldon, N. C., with Miss Nettie Burress. He is 50, she is 19.

Miss Olive Farrington Sampson, daughter of the rear admiral, was married Wednesday to Henry Harrison Scott, of San Francisco, in the Congregational church, Glen Ridge, N. J.

The irrepressible Lois Small Jackson Ford, who tried the stage awhile and made a failure, again comes into notice by eloping with Capt. Hardee, of the volunteer army. She has been twice divorced.

A statistician figures that at from 15 to 20 years of age a woman's chances to marry are 13 per cent., from 20 to 25, 30 per cent., 25 to 30, 22 per cent., 30 to 35, 12 per cent., 35 to 40, 8 per cent., and from 40 to 50, 5 per cent. in which list do you belong, fair maiden?

James Lacy and the 15-year-old daughter of Stephen Collier eloped to Menifee county during the cold spell and Lacy was without an overcoat. They traveled two nights on horseback. Lacy had his ears, hands and feet frozen so badly that he has not been out of bed since. The girl made the journey without injury.

Mr. Samuel B. Totten and Miss Amanda Petty, of Lancaster, drove to this place Tuesday afternoon and were married in the Myers House parlor by Elder F. W. Allen. The bride is a daughter of the late J. M. Petty and is a pretty blonde; while the groom, who is a brother of J. L. Totten, is one of Lancaster's foremost contractors and builders and a nephew of Gov. Bradley.

A few days ago, Miss Mildred Vaughan, a Paducah, Ky., belle and beauty, startled her friends by marrying a barber at Benton Harbor, Mich. Her brother, on hearing of the escapade, went at once to the scene and is now on his way home with the bride, after having suit instituted to annul the marriage.

The young wife says she was not at all competent to enter into the marriage contract and was not responsible at the time of the marriage ceremony.

Lydia Becker found that love's young dream didn't last. She was married to Soldier Squires, at Reading, Pa. The ceremony was patriotic. She was dressed as the Goddess of Liberty. The couple stood under an American flag, the soldier was in full uniform, the guests all wore patriotic decorations, and, instead of a wedding march, sang "Marching Through Georgia" when the bride and groom entered the hotel parlor. Last week they quarreled.

Lydia ran away and was almost frozen to death in a coal car in which she rode to Morristown with two other runaway girls in their teens.

LANCASTER.

Sheriff Sanders has settled with the fiscal court in full, paying about $10,000. The delinquent list is less than usual.

Those who attended the hop at Crab Orchard are profuse in expressions of appreciation of the splendid enjoyment generally, and particularly the good music and delectable supper.

At the regular meeting of the city board of council, E. M. Walker was retained as city marshal and the services of Night Policeman Joe Petty were discontinued for the present.

G. A. Swinebroad reports a good crowd at Fred Yeager's sale on the 2d, and that property sold well. Thirty-six yearling cattle sold at $28 to $30; brood mares $25 to $10; mules $25 to $40; cows $20 to $35; corn, in crib, $1.38, and $1.17 by the bushel.

Assessors J. L. McCarley and Thos. Austin report $31,863 acres of land and $4,016,766 of taxable property in this county. Messrs. J. M. Higginbotham, W. H. Wherritt, W. T. P. Berg, R. T. Hackley and W. S. Walker are supervising the assessor's books.

The Knights of Pythias have elected the following officers for the ensuing term: G. B. Swinebroad, P. C.; E. D. Bishop, C. C.; J. E. Robinson, V. C.; P. W. Spencer, Prelate; J. S. Haselden, K. R. S.; R. Kinard, Master of Exchequer, and J. Joseph, M. A.

George Smith, Jr., is in Cincinnati. On Tuesday evening Mr. F. B. Crooke and Miss Nannie Campbell, of Bleckwood, drove to our city and were married at the Simpson House by Rev. R. M. Campbell. On Wednesday Mason Pollard and Miss Lula Bourne were married at the home of the bride in this county. On the 16th, Mr. Geo. D. Luck, now in the revenue service, and Miss George, daughter of Mr. J. W. Miller, will be married in this city.

The spirit of improvement manifest here is preparing to build the hotel, opera house and Y. M. C. A. Hall demonstrates the fact that surplus capital will be invested at home in the future instead of being invested in boom towns as heretofore, from which no returns are received. This shows a beautiful state of affairs and it has been suggested that an ordinance be passed requiring those, who will not build on their vacant lots, to move them out of town or clean the rubbish away, and then build an iron fence around them.

A troublesome question is about to confront our people as some of our farmers claim that the money raised to keep roads in repair should be equally distributed on all roads, as turnpikes are now on an equal footing with all other county roads. They claim that they should not be taxed to keep up turnpikes when the greater part of their travel is over dirt roads. It does look like exclusive rights and protection to a class, which is undemocratic, but it is the best that can be done until we can build more turnpikes. It is hoped that they will not raid and destroy those already in existence.

HUBBLE.

Elder George Gowen will preach at the Christian church here Sunday morning and night, instead of Sunday afternoon.

James Rogers has sold his farm to Roscoe Hudson and James Pollard for $100. Jim Underwood has sold his farm to James Hamilton, and has bought 60 acres at Parkerville and will move there soon. Frank Kliney sold a lot of mixed hogs to E. P. Woods at 2.90.

Bill Curry has moved to the Swinebroad farm, and we are glad to have him come among us. Dr. L. B. Cook presented T. C. Rankin with a fine boy last Saturday, and Tom has gone to buying mules, thinking that cotton will go up on the strength of it. George Lawson has located in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and writes for his family.

With the demolition of Mazas prison, in Paris, the first prison in France constructed on the old cellular system has disappeared. There were 1,200 cells, radiating like the spokes of a wheel, and so arranged that each prisoner could see the chapel from the door and listen to divine service without leaving his cell.

There are now 50 young women studying at the college of agriculture in Minneapolis. They are entered for the three-year-course in farming and are to study side by side with the men except that, instead of blacksmithing, carpentry and military drill, they will be taught sewing, laundry work and cooking.

When you cannot sleep for coughing take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It always gives prompt relief. It is most excellent for colds, too, as it aids expectoration, relieves the lungs and prevents any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Drug-gists.

The mist at Philadelphia coined 50,000,000 pounds in 1898. Over 22,000 Confederate soldiers are buried in Northern States.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - JAN. 6, 1899.

W. P. WALTON.

In these days of fearfully and wonderfully made men, the woodcock is kept so busy that it has to work 24 hours a day and often on Sundays. This observation seems peculiarly applicable when we read that Col. David Grant Colson says he gave up his seat in Congress because it interfered with his professional business and that he will likely resign his commission of colonel to locate in Louisville and apply himself strictly to the law. All this may do to tell the marines. We, who know, can testify that giving up his seat in Congress was more compulsory than preferable. Judge Boreing would not wait any longer and it was quit or made to quit with the gallant colonel. There are not many lawyers in Kentucky who are able to make as much in fees as a Congressman's salary and perhaps Col. Colson will find he is not one of them.

The Stonewall Jackson camp of Confederate Veterans at Staunton, Va., expresses the sentiments that we have been publishing exactly. It disavows sympathy with the proposition to pension Confederate soldiers and states that while pensions are well enough in principle, the system as administered is robbery and declares that the Confederate dead do not need federal caretakers. The camp further concludes that "the recent discovery of our loyalty as soldiers or as citizens of the United States is not especially creditable to the discoverers, and that the gush of enthusiasm with which it has been greeted in some localities of the South was not called for and not in particularly good taste." Exactly. We are glad that there are some people at least who accept McKinley's electioneering scheme at its real value.

The Corbin News denies the soft impeachment made against it by the London Echo and asks Editor Dyche not to be so previous. Editor Kellogg seems to have "flown du coop," but the paper, according to its own assertion, "will be under a new management after Jan. 1, and has a sufficient patronage and capital to insure its living long enough to sing 'Hark from the Tomb a Doleful Sound' over the remains of several fast decaying nonentities in this neighborhood, which barely have enough semblance to a newspaper to secure second-class rates of postage and to which truth is indeed stranger than fiction."

The Louisville Times has appeared several times recently with the Tattler column lacking, reminding us very much of the well worn remark that without it the paper appears like the play of Hamlet with the principal character omitted. The reason of the omission was the serious illness of the Tattler herself, the intrepid Miss Elvira Synder Miller. The Free Press says: At the present time she is a little improved, and hopes to be out in a week. So far Miss Miller has not had a physician, because, as she puts it, If the worst comes "she feels a pardonable pride in dying a natural death."

The Free Press, edited by that free lance, Col. Walter S. Forrester, made its bow at Louisville with the new year and there is some pretty hot reading in the first issue, tho' it isn't a patching to what is promised as the days go by and evil doers and the Hunter wing of the republican party are trembling in their boots. Our readers will remember the hot stuff Col. Forrester used to send us. Well, that won't be a patching to what the Free Press will contain.

JUDGE SETTLE courts notoriety by instructing the grand jury as well against progressive encroachment as poker, but it won't go. Judge Saufley worked that racket here several years ago and almost got laughed out of his own court. There is a vast difference between playing cards for money and for the prizes offered at a encroachment party and the Bowling Green judge had better attend to the weightier of the two, before going for the lighter.

WALTER EVANS' notice of contest for Oscar Turner's seat in Congress has made him the laughing stock of Washington. It is said that Evans' inordinate desire to remain at the capital would make him steal other than a Congressional seat if it becomes necessary.

A FOOL and his money are soon parted and come easy, go easy are two old saws that continue to have their truth proven. Young Gould, who recently came into the possession of $10,000,000, bought two dogs as his first investment, paying $5,000 for them.

We are to have more of a good thing. The Somerset Paragon has appeared as a semi-weekly. We congratulate Editors Haustford and wish them renewed success.

ONLY four of the republican U. S. Senators do not hold chairmanships and Deboe is one of them. But then Deboe wouldn't know what to do with it, if he had one.

In an interview Mr. Gilbert says he has no fear that Davison will be given his seat, that all his contentions are absurd and will go for naught. They would before honest people, but that is not the class that will pass on Mr. Gilbert's claims. If the republicans want his seat it will be taken from him by the use of might; right itself entering no figure in the question.

A LITTLE charge like looting a bank does not count with republicans. Senator Quay was renominated in Pennsylvania, just as easy as rolling off a log and would have been, even if every son-of-a-gun, who voted for him, had seen him rob the bank.

HON. B. A. ENLOE has been re-elected editor of the Louisville Dispatch, with Charles J. Stewart business manager. And this reminds us to say that Mr. Enloe is one of the very best writers in the city noted for its good writers.

A COMMISSION has decided that gallant Col. John B. Castleman is entitled to be brevetted a brigadier general and will likely be given the right hereafter to wear the title of general, which would fit him exactly.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The public debt increased about $2,000,000 in December.

Senator Julius Caesar Burrows was unanimously renominated in Michigan.

Congressman Dingley continues very ill and may likely cease from troubling.

The peace treaty was presented to the Senate Wednesday and the body immediately went into executive session to refer it to the committee on foreign relations.

More than 70 Senators are said to have pledged themselves to vote for the ratification of the peace treaty. The president hopes for action on the treaty by January 15.

Senator Quay was renominated by the republican caucus at Harrisburg, but his vote was not as large as he expected, and the anti-Quay members claim that he can not be elected.

Theodore Roosevelt was formally inaugurated governor of New York. Governors were also inaugurated in Idaho, Wisconsin, Wyoming and Michigan. Unfortunately all are republicans.

An expert from the civil service commission is investigating Collector Sapp's office in Louisville. It is charged that he violated the law in turning out 30 democrats and putting 29 republicans in.

Senator Illo was renominated by acclamation by the democratic caucus at Nashville. In accepting the nomination he declared himself for Bryan for president on a free-and-unlimited coinage platform.

Senator Lindsay says that the army bill will be passed by the present Congress, and that there will be no necessity for an extra session of the new body. He anticipates a short session of the new Senate to confirm some appointments that will likely be made.

By the retirement of Chief Justice Lewis, who is old and full of honors, Judge James H. Hazelrigg becomes chief justice. J. P. Heeson takes the place vacated by Judge Lewis. In token of their esteem, the other members of the court presented Judge Lewis with a handsome gold watch.

Col. Bennett H. Young told an interviewer: "Senator Goebel will, I believe, get the instruction of the Louisville delegation for the democratic nomination for governor beyond question, and I am inclined to the opinion that the republicans will nominate Hon. John W. Yerkes, of Danville, for governor, although he is not a candidate."

Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, says: "I am more than ever convinced that one of the great issues of the next campaign, if not, indeed, the great issue, will be trusts and combinations of capital illegally organized in restraint of trade. The party which goes before the country in opposition to these trusts, and pledging itself to the enactment and enforcement of a rigid anti-trust law, will win."

Says Col. Forrester of J. W. Catron, who is announced as a candidate for the Legislature in Clinton and Wayne: He is the picturesque prodigy of politics, the bright and scintillating genius who started the hills and hill-billicies one day in the session of 1890, by introducing a bill to "abolish the assistant adjutant general." While we are still pleased to Hill Lyons for dampening at large, we have no objections whatsoever to instructions for Catron for second choice. Trot him along!

A West Virginia democratic politician says of the legislative situation there: "The democratic majority in the House is sufficient to perfectly organize that branch of the Legislature. I predict that when a republican makes the motion to go into joint session with the Senate and ballot for the election of a United States Senator, it will not only be defeated, but postponed indefinitely. It is my opinion the democrats have too many smart men in the House to allow an election."

Senator Blackburn, who recently called on President McKinley, with whom he is on very kindly terms, says he frankly told him in answer to his question, if he thought he could be elected, that he could not, that his troubles had just begun, that the is-sides of the war will swamp both him and his administration and that he would never live to see an administration succeed itself in office. Public sentiment in this country changes too rapidly. What the public wants today and gets it is certain not to want tomorrow.

Gen. Gomez has issued a proclamation in which he states that he will remain in the field at the head of his Cuban troops, and that the army will not be disbanded until a way has been found for the payment of the men.

Dr. B. P. Tevis, the oldest educator in Shelbyville, is dead, aged 74. He was a son of the Rev. John Tevis and of Mrs. Julia A. Tevis, who was founder and for 50 years principal of Seene Hill, the far-famed school for girls.

At Seaside, Oregon, Sheriff Williams and Deputy Lamers, were killed and Judge Miller seriously wounded by Charles Willard, who was in turn killed by B. W. Fulton. Willard was charged with robbing and burning Fulton's house.

Secretary of War Alger has selected 12 regiments of infantry, two independent companies and three batteries of heavy artillery, approximating 16,000 men, which are to be mustered out. The list includes neither Kentucky regiments.

There is now more money in the two Glasgow banks subject to check, as shown by their statements published in this issue, than there has ever been since they were organized, says the Glasgow News, and it seems to be the case with most banks.

Harry Church, a Kansas man, charged with the murder of his illegitimate offspring, was married to Mary Kleininger, the prosecuting witness, just before the case was called for trial. Under the law the woman was not qualified to testify against her husband, and the case was dismissed.

Hair for Baldheads.

Science is making tremendous strides in these latter days. There is nothing apparently that cannot be reasonably the subject of hope. It is conceivable that we may even have wireless politics, if Tesla can ever find time to get round to it, observes the Kansas City Times. The inventors stop at nothing. And inventors abet them in their daring assurance. In its last issue, the Medallion Record, most steady going and conservative of periodicals, has a long article on the therapeutics of depilation—which is to say, the cures for baldheadedness. Some inventor is going to see this article, and then look out for a sensation! It is soberly discussed as a scientific fact that "music of certain kinds does in reality prevent the hair from falling, while that produced by certain instruments has the most disastrous effects in causing rapid development of baldness." Making short cuts through the article, it appears that piano players "preserve, if they do not acquire, a luxuriant growth of hair." On the other hand, "wind instruments, and especially the cornet and trombone, are fatal to hair's adornment." It is rather discouraging to learn that "it has not yet been determined just what key is most favorable to the prevention of an early bald state." The frivolous will not doubt at once think it smart to eat and say that one thing is sure, this key is not the intervals. But frivolity has properly no place at all in such a discussion. How much better the sensible suggestion that various instruments be tried on dogs, microscope observations of the horripilation induced being conducted synchronously. But one thing must occur to the most conventional and unenterprising of thinkers. Here we have an explanation of the towering foreheads that for years and years have crowded the front rows in our theaters. Those twisted horns of brass in the orchestra must go. All that an inventor has to do is to think up some way to brace human nerve to the pitch necessary to endure an orchestra of pianos and we shall soon have to rename our "baldhead rows"—they will take on the aspect of a composite photograph of a theater party of Padreys and football heroes.

Vice President Hobart is reported as saying that he is a direct gainer financially by the late war, and the reason he gives is a decidedly novel one. From his coming to Washington up to the outbreak of the war an average of 100 babies a month were named after him, or at least their fond parents so informed him by letter. Other rich officials and senators have been through the same experience, and, as a rule, rather enjoyed sharing their name and bestowing small checks until the aggregate sum of the latter obliged them to halt. In this particular direction his value has fallen off considerably, for the youngsters nowadays whose parents want to start them off under the halo of somebody else's name are christened Dewey, Schley, Roosevelt, Hobson and all the rest of the recent heroes of land and sea.

The corn and oats crop of 1898 is valued by the agricultural department as worth $83,000,000 more than the crop of 1897. This is on the basis of farm prices on the 1st of December, and the difference is due more to the increase in the price than to a larger crop. As a matter of fact, the crop was larger than in 1897, and the average increase in price was: For corn, 2.4 cents per bushel, and for oats, 4.4 cents.

In Fairplay, Md. (a good name, incidentally), Mrs. Jennie Mickley has been committed to jail for ten days as a common scold under an antique statute of colonial times that has never been repealed. The prosecution was brought by her husband, Charles Mickley, a sober and industrious mechanic, who summoned his neighbors as witnesses to testify to his wife's bad temper and unruly tongue.

The supreme court of Kentucky decides, in a case brought by a blacklisted employee against a railroad company, that "whoever wrongfully prevents a man from pursuing his occupation inflicts an actionable injury." That is justice and should apply to members of labor organizations who prevent nonunion men from working as well as corporations which blacklist discharged employees.

A San Francisco friend of Admiral Dewey, who sent him an account of Hobson's osculatory experience and the dire prophecies for Dewey's fate upon returning, received this answer from the admiral: "The clippings you send do not seem possible. The threats you make persuade me to remain forever in Manila."

A timid New York man found a woman burglar under his bed one night recently. This is another and noteworthy phase in the development of the new woman. Constructors of witticisms who have found the burglar under the bed a prolific subject should take notice.

A traveling man at Warsaw, Ind., is reported to have choked a small boy into insensibility because the latter laughed a derisive laugh at his attempts to skate. This is the first instance we have been informed of where a traveling man has been ashamed of his skate.

ABRAHAM.—Another good old Confederate soldier has gone to his reward. Mr. George Abraham, of Co. B, Capt. Tom Shanks' Co., Grigsby's regiment, Duke's brigade and Morgan's command, sleeps his last sleep, after fighting his last and hardest battle, that of earning a living in his old age. Mr. G. W. Dillord, who fought side by side with him and who was with him in prison at Camp Douglas, and ought to know him pretty well, says he was an excellent man and a capital soldier. Mr. Abraham was about 72 years of age and a bachelor and lived and died near Crab Orchard.

MUST BE TAXED.—In the suit to tax the franchise of the Keeley Cure at Crab Orchard, Judge Bailey decided that it should pay a tax based on a valuation of $30,000, in excess of the $30,000 listed by the springs property for taxation. It was in proof that the owners of the springs, Messrs. W. H. Haldeman, H. L. Young and W. T. Grant, had traded a half interest in the property that they valued at $60,000 to Col. G. C. Webster & Co. to establish a Keeley Cure there, and Judge Bailey thought that as $30,000 was the valuation they had put on the franchise it ought to be taxed to that amount, although the articles of incorporation of the concern fixed the capital stock at $300,000. The case will be appealed.

"YOU have moved? haven't you?" asked Elder Joseph Ballou of us the other day. "No sir," we replied, "we still hold forth at the same old stand." "You must be mistaken," said he. "You used to live on Main Street and now it looks like you live on Mud Alley." The point was a good one and gives us occasion to say that the streets of Stanford were never in such a miserable condition. They are indeed almost impassable and hardly jacksonable, especially the West End of Main where mud was hanted and placed on them, apparently with malice aforethought and evil purpose.

Morris J. Faris sold to W. D. Nave, for $12,000, the old Nave place, containing 273 acres and lying partly in Boyle and partly in Mercer counties, J. F. Ware to J. R. Bonta, for $2,025, 40 acres on Salt river, in Boyle county, T. C. Prewitt to Jenole, L. Prewitt for $1,300, 70 acres on the north side of the Danville and Lancaster pike.—Advocate.

The Louisville & Nashville has completed a new style passenger coach at its shops in Louisville. It is to be used as a model for coaches to be put on all through trains. The coach is much longer than the ordinary car, and built on anti-telescopine lines. It can be divided into 12 compartments, for the use of private parties, or can be used as a regular first-class coach. It is finished inside with Cuban mahogany. "One of these coaches could be rolled down any ordinary embankment without serious damage," says an official.

Mrs. Welch has a letter from Rev.

George O. Barnes saying that he has begun a meeting at Washington "to last till Jesus comes." After much difficulty he secured an abandoned church, which had been sold to be torn down, but as it costs about $200 a month and he has nothing to pay it with, he is trusting the Lord to open the hearts of his Kentucky and other friends to send him contributions to help expenses. He is satisfied that the Lord has called him to work at the Capital and that the harvest of souls will be a royal one. ## 'Fun at a Funeral.'

It is not often that a man's funeral is funny enough to make his near relatives laugh. This, however, is what happened at the funeral of Dr. Kellogg, of Ashland, O. The Kellogg family is an old and respected one in town, and often happens in old families of small towns, is connected with nearly every other family in the town. Dr. Kellogg died in New York. He was a widower, without any children, and left orders in his will for his body to be cremated and the ashes deposited in the grave of his wife at Ashland Mrs. Patterson, a cousin, was directed to carry out his request. The death of the doctor cast a gloom over the whole big family of kinsfolk. Mrs. Patterson telegraphed directions for the cremation of the body, and watched anxiously for the arrival of the remains. One morning the expressman drove up with the box, the funeral was held, and attended by Ashland in a body. The wife's grave was opened, the box deposited solemnly, and the mourners dispersed. A few days afterward Mrs. Patterson received a small zinc box, about the size of the first. She was horrified to find that this last box undoubtedly contained the ashes of her cousin, Dr. Kellogg. She knew, of course, at once, that something else, not telling what, had been deposited in the cemetery in lieu of the doctor. A quiet investigation was made. It was found that another Mrs. Patterson in Ashland, a sister-in-law, had sent a dress to a dye firm in New York. The box containing this dress had been deposited in the grave of the late Mrs. Kellogg. A second and very quiet burial was held, at which only Mrs. Patterson and the sexton were present. The story was too good to keep, and was soon passed around.

A serious question of social etiquette has arisen at Eureka Springs, Ark., where four convicts absented themselves without leave from the county prison and went to a dance. In the morning they were all back again at the jail door, clamoring for admission and breakfast. The justly incensed jailer refused to take them in, saying they had abused his hospitality. The matter was taken to higher authorities and the exiles have obtained their old quarters. On the whole, the decision was just. Some slight punishment should be inflicted on the absentees, but a good deal can be excused to high spirits, while it should not be held that a mere frolicsome escapade like this should forfeit a prisoner's legal right to food and shelter. There is a time to dance, but one cannot be dancing all the time. The jailer should not allow personal plique to interfere with grave constitutional privileges.

Thomas C. Boone, one of the three men who made ascents in the war balloon at Santiago, in telling of his experiences in Boston the other night, said: "Newspaper correspondents and magazine writers have condemned the balloon, but in my opinion there can be no question of the value of the balloon in warfare. We were able to locate the enemy, and in one particular instance undoubtedly saved many lives when we informed our men of a body of the enemy about 300 strong lying hidden in the pass on the slope commanding a narrow path up which our men were about to march."

A glass manufacturing firm at Port Allegany, Pa., is preparing to make glass tubes that can be used for sending oil or gas across the country, for carrying off sewage, supplying cities with water, etc. The glass pipe does not corrode. It is impervious to the electrolysis in underground conduits and, it is claimed, is less likely to leak than iron pipe. An Ohio company is now putting in such a pipe line, and a practical test of the system will soon be possible for a distance of 100 miles.

In Columbia university a few days ago Hiram S. Maxim gave a demonstration, with blank cartridges, of his rapid-fire gun in action. The hall was crowded with students. When the shots reached 600 a minute the enthusiasm ran high, and there was a wild charge for shells. Mr. Maxim says the idea of utilizing the recoil to reload and fire occurred to him while hunting in the south soon after the civil war.

Every dog of high degree nowadays asserts the fact by wearing the crest of his house on his chest. The poor little doggie must pay for his swaddling, as must his mistress, who wears herself to skin and bone pursuing pleasure's banlieue. The dog's howls refute the theory that cocaine does away with the pain of the operation. But once it is over the crested poodle can afford an extra sniff at the ash pull mongrel.

For a people supposed to be more deliberate and less nervous than the Americans the English seem at times to be victims of hurry. It is officially reported that there were left in the London cabs last year 17,000 umbrellas, 181 gold watches, 3,000 purses, several birds in cages, an artificial leg, a street harmonium and a sewing machine.

This is how a Dallas (Tex.) reporter chronicled a hanging: "At 11:46 Sheriff Stewart cut the rope, and John B. Shaw, dressed in a neat-fitting suit of black, with turned down collar, black tie, and black gloves, was ushered into the presence of his God."

MIDDLEBURG.

The post-office was turned over to G. S. Durham Jan. 1st. Rev. J. Q. Montgomery preached at the Christian church Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. A social was given Saturday night at H. H. McAninch's. Despite the cold, stormy night a good crowd of the elite were present, who made fun until late hour. At his examining trial at Liberty Monday, Sheriff James Brown was acquitted of the murder of Jas. Chatman, which occurred on Wednesday night of last week.

The writer is once more on the editorial staff of the Louisville daily. As a news-gatherer, we are without a peer (?) often sending items that are not news.

The roads are again in a terrible plight. Even down here in Casey where excessive toll is charged, the plows are little, if any better, than the average country dirt road.

The stove to be given away to the one guessing nearest the number of mixed seed in a quart jar by French & Kelsay resulted in a tie. Richard Sharp and Mrs. J. C. Lay both guessing the correct number, which was 6,111. Mr. Sharp has consented to give or take that is $15 to Mrs. L. and take the stove or vice versa.

Green River was on a rampage Saturday and consequently no mail. There is no stream at all between here and McKinney and some "postal regulation" should be inaugurated to give Middleburg a mail, though Green River was on a "high lonesome" seven days out of the week.

School resumed Monday with a good attendance. John Paul has moved to the Huff property on Racestreet, Robt. Tucker moving into the house vacated by Paul. Theo. Wesley has moved into the Drye property, Perry Wesley moving into the house vacated by the former druggist and postmaster.

The writer is in receipt of a letter from Sergeant L. F. Young, who is with Capt. Penny's company in Porto Rico. While he speaks well of that American emerald, he writes that there's no place like Kentucky, and he wishes that it were possible to float that Isle up Green River and anchor somewhere in the vicinity of Middleburg.

The Fulmen Irrutum met Friday night, an interesting program being rendered. The subject for debate Friday night is, "Resolved That One Grows Happier as he Grows Learned." Affirmative, J. R. Staton and Miss Florence Christopher. Negative, Alvah Lucas and Jodie Kelsay. Paper, Steuben Godfrey. Many other interesting selections and recitations will be given. Everybody invited.

We notice that Gov. Bradley has commissioned E. S. Helburn, of Middleboro, a captain in Colson's regiment. Helburn was major of the 1st Battalion, 2d Kentucky. The companies of this battalion were A, E, H (Middleboro) and L (Lancaster). Major Helburn was one of the best loved officers of the "bloody" (?) second, and while his boys would have been glad for him to have knocked a larger plum, yet they will congratulate him on receiving this recognition from the guy.

Wallace Sharp, formerly of Casey, but now a resident of Texas, is in to visit friends and relatives. Prof. W. T. Ford, formerly of J. W. I., but now of Georgetown, came down Friday to visit friends. Jason Wesley and sister, Miss Florence, are attending school at Lancaster. Fred Durham will attend school at Hogsett Academy, Danville, commencing Monday next. Leo Colmar has returned from Danville, where he spent the holidays. G. S. Durham was in Danville Thursday on business. Jason Taylor left Tuesday for Wilmore, where he will attend college. Leonard Creech is thinking of attending Barbourville College.

GRAND ARMY RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved 1st, That we fully appreciate and endorse the wise and humane administration of our noble and christian hearted president, who has so thoroughly endeared himself to the hearts of all our patriotic people, both North and South.

2. That we deeply regret the loss of Gen. Garcia, who has spent his life in the cause of liberty for his people, the Cubans; and also the loss sustained by our nation in the death of Col. Waring, the great humanitarian, and we mourn the loss of two members of this post, Jeremiah Martin and Newton Perkins, who recently answered their last roll call.

One of the army officers in America.

G. O., tells a good story illustrative of the happy-go-lucky character of some of those who join the army. One day recently after one of the privates in his regiment had received his full month's wages of $13.50, he went to Lexington to enjoy himself. Going to a livery stable, the soldier hired the finest landau in the establishment, and, drawn by four fine horses, was driven about the city for two hours. The stable bill amounted to $15 exactly, and with only a half-dollar left in his pocket the private trudged back to camp at sunset with only the pleasantest recollections of his drive over the city behind a four-in-hand. He probably wanted to show the people what a real soldier looked like.

A correspondent of the Westminster Gazette considers that it takes too much exertion and ink to speak and write the "citizens of the United States of America," and he suggests, inasmuch as in manuscript it is customary for brevity to print the three letters, "U. S. A., for the "United States of America," that the republic be called "Usa" and its inhabitants "Usans." We'll kick on "Usans."

One of the banners carried in a triumphant procession at Phillipburg, Kans., bore the following inscription: "The Pop Caesar is no Rose Geranium!" Two years ago the populists paraded there with a banner declaring that the corruption of the other party smelted to heaven.

Gen. Shafter says of the Cuban soldiers: "They were half naked. Some had only a pair of trousers, but I noticed every one had a gun and a cartridge belt, even if he didn't have a shirt to his back." They were clad literally in the "rude habiliments of war."

"A baby," says Israel Zangwill, "is a joy to its mother, an heir to its father, a charge to its nurse, a soul to the clergyman who baptizes it, a new biological specimen to the physician, a new customer to the shopkeeper, and a nuisance to the neighbors."

Even Emperor William, the German magnate, cannot travel abroad without coming across evidences of American enterprise. The engines which drew him over the famous railroad "from Jaffa to Jerusalem" were built in the United States.

Indiana now ranks second as a state in which fruits and vegetables are packed, Maryland being first and New Jersey third.

WHEN YOU HAVE A BAD COLD.

You want the best medicine that can be obtained, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keep expectoration easy.

You want a remedy that will counteract any tendency toward pneumonia.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only medicine in use that meets all of these requirements. This remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. It has many rivals, but, for the speedy and permanent cure of bad colds, stands without a peer and its splendid qualities are everywhere admired and praised. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

HAVE MEN FALL.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and oil less the results to loss of appetite, painless in the blood, barkache nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitter are just the thing for a man when he isn't run down, and doesn't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only see, at Peavy's Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Admiral Dewey wrote in response to a letter from a New Albany girl: "I am very sorry that I have nothing to send you, for I would like to very much. So many people have already asked me for buttons and pictures, that I have a long time ago given them all away. I don't have enough buttons left now even to button my coat."
